DETAILED ACTION

REPEATED REJECTIONS

1. Claims 7 - 10, 15, 20 and 25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Murakami et al (U.S. Patent No. 4,264,667) as evidenced by Fukuda et al (U.S. Patent No. 5,466,505), of record on page 2 of the previous Action, is repeated.

2. Claims 14, 19, 24 and 29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Murakami et al (U.S. Patent No. 4,264,667) in view of Yoshinaka et al (U.S. Patent No. 4,996,291), of record on page 2 of the previous Action, is repeated.

ANSWERS TO APPLICANT'S ARGUMENTS

3. Applicant's arguments regarding the 35 U.S.C. 102(b) of Claims 7 - 10, 15, 20 and 25 as being anticipated by Murakami et al (U.S. Patent No. 4,264,667) as evidenced by Fukuda et al (U.S. Patent No. 5,466,505) and 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Murakami et al (U.S. Patent No. 4,264,667) in view of Yoshinaka et al (U.S. Patent No. 4,996,291), of record in the previous Action, have been carefully considered but have not been found to be persuasive for the reasons set forth below.

Applicant argues, on page 2 of the remarks dated February 5, 2008, that the shrinkage and adhesive properties of the claimed invention are not necessarily present in the film of Murakami et al because a film made according to Example 3 of Murakami et al does not have the shrinkage and adhesive properties.

However, as stated on page 2 of the previous Action, Murakami et al discloses a film having the claimed shrinkage and adhesive properties, although a film having the claimed properties is not disclosed in Example 3; Murakami et al therefore disclose at least one embodiment having the claimed shrinkage and adhesive properties, and the properties are therefore necessarily present in Murakami et al.

Applicant also argues, on page 3, that the term 'shrinkage' in Murakami et al is a translation error for 'relaxation.'

However, in the same paragraph referred to by Applicant, Murakami et al refer to the film as being 'shrunk,' rather than 'relaxed.' The term therefore does not appear to be a translation error.

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
